DOCKET NUMBER
PROPOSED RULE PR 20
(64FR35090)

'00 SEPT 22 P2:21

Nuclear Regulatory Commission:

We don't need radioactive materials being used in everyday, household items. Radioactive materials can not be recycled sucessfully. Once these materials get into general use, there is no way to keep track of where they go or how much radio activity anyone is exposed to. Such so called "recycling" is a disaster in the making.

You, of the commission, need to protect the public now and in future not find loop holes that will cause problems for generations. Radioactive materials need to be reduced not increased in our environment — the same environment you, your families and friends live in.

Sincerely,
C. A. Richards
