I am writing to voice my support for the proposed expansion at Comanche Peak Nuclear Plant in North Texas. I was so pleased to read in today's Dallas Morning News the announcement that Luminant Generation wishes to expand their power generation at Glen Rose with the addition of two new reactors. The development of nuclear power production in the U.S. has been stymied for too long. It is most encouraging to see Texas moving in a direction which will help provide the needed electric power for its growing population.
