Karen,

Aaron McCraw called me today to inquire if I had seen your response to his questions (see below) from November. He hasn't seen a response. I thought I had, but I couldn't find anything in email.

I've been trying to call you this morning, but haven't been able to hook up with you.

If you've already sent a response, can you resend it? If not, could you give Aaron just a short blurb that he can put into ADAMS to close the loop on this?

Randy

Karen,

Marty Virgilio received Mr. Whitley's response to the final IMPEP report. Mr. Whitley's letter does not specifically provide any actions that Nevada is taking in response to the individual recommendations in the final report as requested in Mr. Virgilio's letter dated September 16, 2009. As a supplement to Mr. Whitley's letter, could you please provide me with a short blurb (emphasis on short; I don't need anything elaborate) about the actions you're planning to take to address each of the recommendations? Below are the recommendations from the final IMPEP report for your convenience.

1. The review team recommends that the Program revise their inspection procedures and provide training to implement a policy for timely and orderly license termination of licensed materials not in use. (Section 3.3 of the 2005 IMPEP Report) Done. Being field tested to determine effectiveness.

2. The review team recommends that the Program develop, implement, and maintain a reliable and comprehensive licensing and inspection database that serves as an effective and efficient planning, tracking, and management tool. (Section 3.4 of the 2005 IMPEP Report) Working on it. Database was updated to address ability to track inspections, compliance and follow up due.

3. The review team recommends that the State submit proposed and final regulations to NRC for compatibility reviews. (Section 4.1.2) Done. New procedures in place for future compliance.

4. The review team recommends that that the State develop all required regulations within the required timeframe. (Section 4.1.2) In the final phase of regulatory revisions for April adoption. New procedures in place for future compliance.

Please let me know if you have any questions. I hope you have a safe and happy Thanksgiving!

Thanks in advance,
-Aaron

Attached is the signed copy of the letter. No one knows if the October dated letter went out so I changed the date and it was walked through the signature process. Original is in the mail.

Randy,

I was just checking my records and saw that I don't have anything for Nevada's response to the final IMPEP report that was requested within 30 days. Have you seen anything? If not, would you mind reminding Karen that NRC requested a response?

Thanks,
-Aaron
