13.2 Training

A COL applicant that references the U.S. EPR design certification will provide site-specific information for training programs for plant personnel. Additional information on training is provided in Section 18.9.

Next File