Thanks for the update. The pre-licensing guidance and checklists are inherently considered official use only - security related.....

I put the flash drive in the FED EX overnight yesterday afternoon - for a 10/30 delivery at the latest. Hopefully, you'll get it today. I've been looking through the notebooks - so far, in the licensing area, things related to the pre-licensing guidance and checklists - are marked official use only - security related info.

I'm not sure how we're going to handle the info. that can't be released, since, technically, the whole application needs to be public. Just wanted to give you the heads up that some information is to be withheld. I'm still looking for the state police protocol that is to be withheld.
