

AbstractOak Ridge Institute for Science and Education (ORISE)
Cooperative Agreement*Period of Performance: 12/31/2009-12/31/2014

The NRC Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU) Research Participation Program is a component of the NRC Minority Serving Institutions Program (MSIP). This program provides HBCU faculty and students (graduate and undergraduate) opportunity for hands-on participation in research and development activities that supports the NRC mission. Support is available at U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) research laboratories, since these laboratories perform a substantial portion of the NRC's research and technical assistance activities. HBCU faculty and students are assigned to specific research projects.
