Please junk the plan to use radioactive metal in medals. I just heard about it, and want to lodge my protest now. (Don't you think you should have given the public more time and more information before you set out on this plan? I understand the deadline is tomorrow for protests.) I'd like to know more about the plan, but the deadline doesn't permit me to study it before I act. I'm an old woman and won't live long enough to see any harms from this, because the harms won't show up for many years, but my grandchildren are growing up in a world already full of problems left by our generation (chemical and radioactive pollution, unexploded mines and artillery, overpopulation, etc.) and I don't want us to add any more. I know it's difficult to dispose of radioactive materials, but please find another way.
