Docket No. 72-22-ISFSI

ASLBP No. 97-732-02-ISFSI

February 9, 2000

MEMORANDUM AND ORDER (Granting Page Limit Extension and Providing Additional Pages for Late-Filed Contention Motions)

Applicant Private Fuel Storage, L.L.C., (PFS) has filed an unopposed request for a ten-page extension of the ten-page limitation on motions relative to the January 26, 2000 motion of intervenor State of Utah (State) for admission of late-filed bases for contention Utah L, Geotechnical. In its motion, PFS requests this relief based on the fact that the State late-admission request to which it will respond was in excess of twenty pages.

The PFS February 7, 2000 motion to extend the page limit for responses to the State's January 26, 2000 motion for admission of late-filed bases for contention Utah L is granted in that party responses to the State's motion may be up to and including twenty pages in length.

DS02

Relative to the question of pleading page limitations, we also note that in establishing a ten-page limit on motions in this proceeding, we did not specify what filings would be considered a "motion." The provision of the agency's rules of practice on motions, 10 C.F.R. § 2.730, suggests in paragraph (b) that a motion is a pleading (or that portion of a pleading) that requests relief from the Board. Arguably, a pleading asking the Board to admit a late-filed contention falls into this category.

This being said, we also recognize that for a late-filed contention request, in addition to making a showing about the admissibility of the contention, a movant generally is required to address a preliminary procedural point -- the five late-filing factors of 10 C.F.R. § 2.714(a). As a consequence, we consider it appropriate to provide five additional pages for such a motion as well as party responses to that motion. Accordingly, absent leave of the Board, a motion to admit a late-filed contention and any responses thereto shall not exceed fifteen pages in length.

It is so ORDERED.

AND LICENSING BOARD*
