NRC APPOINTS VINCENT GADDY
SENIOR RESIDENT INSPECTOR AT CALLAWAY

U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission officials in Arlington, Texas, have appointed Vincent G. Gaddy to be senior resident inspector at the Callaway nuclear power plant near Fulton, Missouri.

Mr. Gaddy joined the NRC in 1991 as an intern in the Agency's reactor engineering program. After completing the two-year internship he worked as a reactor engineer in the Maintenance and Engineering Branch in Region IV until 1995. He then served as the resident inspector at the Fort Calhoun Station nuclear power plant in Ft. Calhoun, Nebraska.

Mr. Gaddy graduated from the University of Arkansas at Little Rock and has taken graduate courses in environmental engineering from Southern Methodist University.

Mr. Gaddy, his wife and two children live in Columbia, MO.

At Callaway, Mr. Gaddy joins Resident Inspector John Hanna. They can be reached at (573) 676-3181.
