

NRC MEDIUM SPEED SCANNERS ANALYSIS REPORT

10/7/99
DML
12/24/99

INTRODUCTION

NRC has a requirement for a medium-volume, high-resolution document scanner to support the Regional Document Processing Centers (DPC) and the Office of the Secretary. CSC has researched a variety of scanners to identify those that would effectively fulfill NRC's needs for a medium-volume, high-resolution scanning environment. Initially considered candidates were various models sold by Fujitsu, Hewlett Packard, Kodak, Ricoh, SONY and Xerox. Our evaluation was based the following Requirements and Assumptions.

REQUIREMENTS

1. The page size to be scanned will be at least 8.5" x 11"
2. Required output format is TIFF (Tagged Image File Format)
- The equipment must interface with a host Intel Based PC running NT 4.0 via SCSI Interface

ASSUMPTIONS

- The scanner equipment configuration will not include a host computer
- Training and extended maintenance are not included in the equipment cost
- Double-sided (duplex) copy capability is required
- Multiple sheet feed capability is required
- That the scanner be capable of high resolution scanning

EVALUATION

The CSC evaluation process gathered information from the Internet, from resellers, and from discussions with technically qualified users. The primary criteria used to narrow the selection was performance in OCR capability and speed, cost, and hardware/software compatibility. The three scanners listed below would best suit NRC's medium-volume, high-resolution scanning needs at a reasonable price. Each of these scanners ships with an Automatic Document Feeder, and a limited warranty with minor variations in replacement policy and response time.

CANDIDATE SCANNERS

SCANNER	SPEED	INTERFACE	ADF	SCAN COMPATIBILITY	DPI	COST *
Fujitsu M3099GX	60 pp/min	SCSI-2	Y	TWAIN & ISIS	400	$14,825
XEROX 620S	40 pp/min	SCSI-2	Y	TWAIN & ISIS	600	$11,995
Kodak ds3500	60 pp/min	SCSI-2	Y	TWAIN & ISIS	300	$13,700

* Street prices may vary slightly with service policy, interface options, and 3rd party software.

RECOMMENDATION

The Xerox DocuImage 620S scanner was ranked highest in our evaluation for performance/price. The DocuImage 620S does more with lower resolution 200 and 300 dpi images than any other scanner. It improves the rate of OCR conversion to increase productivity. The DocuImage 620S produces better image quality with higher information content than the competition. Although the pages per minute for DocuImage 620S is less than the other models, it is more than sufficient to easily handle the volume at the regions. More significant is the ability of the DocuImage 620S to handle "dirty" OCRs. Imaging magazine rated DocuImage 620S highest in an analysis of scanners for OCR accuracy.

One significant issue that may be overlooked by scanning equipment users is that of preventive maintenance. It is imperative that scanners are routinely maintained to insure the production of optimum quality images. Based on the moderate document volume assumption, CSC recommends that all medium-volume scanners undergo weekly preventative maintenance including the thorough cleaning of rollers and plate glass to minimize paper jams, and to yield a high quality image. There will also be an occasional need to replace scanner consumables such as scanner rollers and lamps. The volume of use will significantly effect the frequency of such replacements, but their cost will need to be included in future budgeting plans.

Ok Wil,

Well, just doing my job. Please have someone tell me how they resolved the interface problem--I need to file that away in my memory banks.

And be sure to tell all to call with any scanner problems-- especially installation and setup. I can usually walk them through over the telephone.

Remember and please remind everyone that we may not be able to get more Doculmage scanners next year--(at a reasonable price) so if there is any possibility that more will be needed-- we can fill orders until the end of 1999-- GSA and also can do Visa or MC.

For faster scanning, we have the full line of Kodak scanners including the 3590c which can do 85 pages/minute in full color! It can do 170 images per minute scanning both sides of the paper.

Thanks again Wil,

Larry,

Please provide a quote, delivery terms, and warranty for the subject scanner. I would like to complete this order prior to January 2000 when Xerox plans to bundle the scanner with the costs for the "Digipath" product. Therefore, I would appreciate receiving your quote by close of business on 12/22/99. If you have any questions, I can be reached on (301) 415-6535.

Thanks!
Michael Turner

Hi Michael,

Please check with Yvette Brown for all information needed about Del Mar Data, the scanners, delivery, etc. etc. She even has our electronic payment information I think.

Price is GSA $10,745.75, terms net 30, delivery immediate-- (5 days probably). Warranty is 90 days unconditional and service agreement is optional beyond that.

All I need from you is the PO number-- and we will ship based on that alone. I will invoice after delivery-- and after I receive the paper Purchase Order, etc.

Again, we have been through all of this with Yvette, so you can save both of us work by just getting her Del Mar Data file, if such exists, ha.

Let me know Michael,

Hi Yvette,

Del Mar Data is the only GSA source of the Xerox Doculmage scanner. The MSRP is $11,995.00. We have discounted it for GSA to $10,745.75. That is our quotation.

DMD will travel to Rockville and provide staff training for the scanner and imaging software-- for no additional cost-- if NRC buys 3 units at the GSA price.

The scanners are immediately available--2 or 3 day delivery after receipt of Purchase Order.

Call or email larry@delmardata.com with questions.

You can send the PO by email attachment.
