Subject: the sale of low level radioactive soils for use by builders, etc.

If all the officials who say it's okay to use low level radioactive soils for playgrounds, golf courses, building materials and the like would simply show us by example, I have an idea:

For the next 50-75 years, let these officials and their progeny live in homes built upon these materials and we can use them as our example as to how safe these materials are.

NO to using people for radioactive experimentation!
