Subject: looking for lost gauge
Summary: I informed Mr. Civic that based on bankruptcy papers, LTV Steel bought 2 nuclear density gauges. I told him that one gauge turned up in a field with the shutter open and the other is missing. I faxed to him the bankruptcy papers and the papers about JW Industrial Services. He said he was surprised to hear that LTV bought radioactive material because the safety office is supposed to be informed about these things and based on his conversations with personnel (those still employed and some who have retired) who were there in the late 1980s, no one recalls this case. He reviewed the radiation safety records and there is no information related to the 2 TN Technologies 5191 gauges. He said he'd look into it with legal and get back to us.
Action Required/Taken: Wait for LTV to respond
