Mr. CRGR Chairman,

I talked with Ms. Patricia Campbell this morning and relayed our apologies for not being able to accommodate her request for CRGR to meet with NUBARG representatives at 10:00 a.m. on February 21, as she requested. I explained that several CRGR members already had previously scheduled appointments during that period.

I also indicated that you had been asked by Mr. Sheldon Trubach, representing the Nuclear Regulatory Service Group, for a similar meeting with CRGR on February 20, 2001. She asked if that had been granted and I replied that it had not. She explained that a meeting with CRGR at that time would work in well with a risk-informed conference starting the afternoon of the 21st and going through the 22nd.

I said that we were considering scheduling a public CRGR meeting, perhaps in the NRC auditorium in the March-April time frame, and asked for her input. She suggested the morning of March 13, 2001, because licensees would be in town for the Regulatory Information Conference, and could adjust their travel schedules, if desired to arrive the previous evening. She did not think the afternoon of Thursday, March 15 would be good, as licensee would want to leave for home Thursday afternoon, because some utilities do not work Friday.

She suggested that if we didn't hold the meeting in conjunction with the RIC, then we should consider delaying the separate meeting until the third week in April (after IRS day), or otherwise it would be too close to the RIC meeting for some of them to travel to Washington again within a few weeks.
