Dear FAPAC Members and Friends:

On behalf of Federal Asian Pacific American Council (FAPAC), I would like to invite you to participate in the FAPAC's 16th Annual National Training Conference to be held in the Washington, DC metropolitan area, during the week of May 7-10, 2001. The detailed information has been posted on the FAPAC web-site <<http://www.fapac.org>>.

FAPAC is an inter-agency organization of Asian Pacific Americans (APAs) employed by the Federal and District of Columbia (DC) Governments. The organization represents over 120,000 APA employees, civilian and military, in all major Federal agencies and the DC Government. The members of FAPAC reside in many states including Alaska and Hawaii, as well as U. S. territories and 5 foreign countries. FAPAC has been a nationally recognized organization since 1985. The organization pursues APA interests in the Federal and DC Governments, promotes cultural diversity, and provides a bridge between APA employees and Federal management.

The FAPAC Conference includes: Pre-Conference Forums, Congressional Seminar, National Leadership Training Conference, and Agency Exhibits. Congressional Seminar will be held at the U. S. Capitol Hill, and the rest will be held at DoubleTree Hotel in Arlington, VA, minutes from downtown Washington, DC.

Many U. S. Senators and Congressional representatives support the Congressional Seminar. You may have an opportunity to meet the U. S. representatives from your state.

The National Leadership Training Conference stresses on cultural diversity and leadership development training, and features plenary sessions and workshops in the following five tracks: diversity, leadership development, civil rights and EEO issues, managers and supervisors, and other concerns.

Agency Exhibits features booths of many Federal agencies. At each booth, the participating agency would provide information about its employment opportunities and possibly its outreach programs.

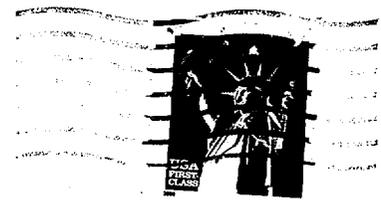

The FAPAC Conference flyer and registration forms are posted on the FAPAC web-site. You are encouraged to register by using your Government credit card through our web-site. If you prefer to register by using hard copies, you can print a registration form from the web-site, complete the form, and fax it to FAPAC. The FAPAC fax number is posted on the flyer. No matter how you register for the conference, please remember to bring the original copies of (1) your completed registration form and (2) your agency approved training form to the registration table at the Conference site.

I am looking forward to seeing you at the FAPAC Conference in May 2001.

Sincerely,

Mike Maroof
