Dear Mr. Lochbaum:

Thank you for your thoughtful comments regarding the public participation workshop and the meeting feedback form.

One of the key messages we heard at the workshop was that NRC needs to adopt a more effective listening mode, and ensure that comments and questions are not only heard, as you mentioned, but responded to in a timely manner.

As you know, we requested comments on the feedback form from all participants at the meeting. We will be compiling these and other general comments on NRC's public participation practices into a staff paper for Commission consideration. As we revise the form, I would like to get your thoughts again before we go with a final version.

Again, I appreciate very much your constructive comments during the meeting. Your contributions were helpful in keeping the meeting on track and achieving our mutual objective of providing a forum for all views to be heard.

Sincerely,

/RA/
