Attn: Director, Division of State and Licensee Relations

Gentlemen:

Eastman Kodak presently holds two AEC Radioactive Material Licenses: STB-295, Amendment #3 (expires May 31, 1972) which is a license to export thorium contained in optical glass, photographic lenses, and dye transfer paper; and #31-00461-10, Amendment #14 (expires April 30, 1973) which permits us to use sealed tritium activated luminous light sources in non-agreement states. For your convenience, I am enclosing copies of the first page of both licenses.

Having read the recently amended Part 170 and its attached schedule of fees for materials licenses, it is my opinion that Eastman Kodak Company is not required to pay either application or annual fees in regards to these licenses. I would appreciate your confirmation of this decision if I am correct. If Eastman Kodak Company is required to pay a fee, would you please let me know and be sure that all correspondence and billing is sent to the undersigned at the address shown below.

Very truly yours,

Richard F. Scherberger, Secretary
Radiation Protection Committee
