John,

It will probably need to be Friday ... Bob Palla will be out on Thursday. How about 9:00 AM? I'll get a conference room.

One question which we are unclear on, and which is important, is which source term does RES think is the more appropriate (i.e., is the more realistic one): the NUREG-1465 or the one with the volatile ruthenium?

Tim: We received and are in the process of responding to an overall NRR user need on SFP. The response will address a number of key areas where we have provided support. We would, however, like to meet with you to discuss the overall approach and philosophy, and discuss how it all fits together. Can we meet sometime this week? Thursday morning, or Friday are good for me.

Thanks,

John
