Joe-

On March 30, 2000, I accompanied Mary Kay Fahey at an interview with the alleged. The purpose of this meeting was for Mary Kay to investigate the discrimination aspect of the allegation, and for me to provide technical support to Mary Kay if it became obvious that the alleged had new technical concerns. Prior to going on record, I discussed the technical aspects and safety significant concerns of the alleged. At the conclusion of our discussion, the alleged stated that he had no new technical concerns and was satisfied with the conclusions made in the December 16, 1999, close-out letter. At the start of Mary Kay's interview with the alleged, which was recorded by a court reporter, she documented that the alleged did not have any additional technical concerns to communicate to NRC staff.
