With Trip's changes, which have been incorporated, there is no legal objection to the final rule.

I do have one minor editorial contribution, which you may consider for what it's worth. I just noticed that in some parts of the rule we refer to "work papers" and in other parts to "workpapers." I don't know that it matters whether there is a space between the words, but as a matter of writing style, I prefer consistency. On the other hand, this is pretty benign stuff, so it doesn't really make a difference if it gets changed or not.

Your changes are in redline (open in WP in order to see redline). Your NLO is requested as soon as possible.

Your changes are on or around pages 18, 19, and 20.
