Nope - and I doubt that Tim Steingass has either.

What can we do at this point? Is there a self-study training package or is this an official class?

Allen -

This morning the Davis-Besse resident inspectors told me that the television monitors displaying the reactor vessel CRDM inspections will be located in a radiation controlled area. If this is true, and I've asked the licensee to verify this, then some form of radiation training, either NRC or licensee training, would be required for the site visit.

I'll let you know what the final story is. However, in the interim - have you had NRC site access training within the last year?
