NRC UPDATES THE CONTROL OF SOLID MATERIALS WEBSITE (STP- 02-081)

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission has updated the Control of Solid Material website to reflect recent information on this matter regarding SECY-02-0133 and the associated Staff Requirements Memorandum dated October 25, 2002. Please note the clearance website was moved from its previous location and is now located at: www.nrc.gov/materials/medical.html (under Regulatory Initiatives).

There are two pages in the website that you may find most useful:

1. Background - provides links to a number of documents prepared and meetings held on this subject. This provides a location where you can find and research background information on the control of solid materials.

2. Current News - provides updates on recent activities and opportunities for public comment (including announcement of meetings).
