TVA Exhibit 85

TVA Exhibit 85 includes retention registers and memorandums notifying Watts Bar employees between March and June of 1997 that their jobs are no longer needed and of their option to resign or to be assigned to CTS. The exhibit lists 130 Watts Bar employees on 35 retention registers, with each register consisting of a separate competitive level. Based on those retention registers, it was determined that 57 employees were surplus. Memorandums, which are also included in the exhibit, were issued to those surplus employees notifying them of their option to be assigned to CTS, the successor organization to TVAS, or to resign their TVA employment. The memorandums are essentially the same as the memorandum sent to Fiser, Joint Exhibit 28. The exhibit also includes notes on the subsequent employment history of each of the 57 employees who were issued a notice to report to CTS.
