Bill,

Mike Johnson (my new branch chief) wants to have a meeting that will allow him to "see" if there is a technical consensus supporting the draft preliminary SDP. It is basically a formalization of the quality check process I am going through now with you and others. Mike added a PRA check as well as a check with the sources of the technical inputs. I think that's a good idea, something I've been trying to get started in this branch for a long time.

Anyway, the meeting of the PRA reviewers and as many technical input providers as possible is today at 1 pm. I had previously asked if you could participate, and you also should have received an e-mail from Mike Johnson, sent yesterday to wjshack@anl.gov.

Let me know if you can do it.

✓ I'm drawing a blank. I remember you mentioning a meeting, but can't remember subject.

Bill,

You are correct, Mike excluded you from his e-mail, although I put your name on the addressee list and he did not mention to me that he removed it

With regard to Neilish's involvement, I had asked that ONLY the people who made inputs review it to see if I had used their inputs in a manner consistent with what they had meant. THEN I would make the document ready for the wider review. As I suspected, management cannot stand back and allow that to occur. Thank you for your direct participation. It will be interesting to see what RES says you say.

✓ No email from Mike. Without an invitation from Mike or Cullen/Nilesh, I don't think I want to call in. Nilesh is going to be asking his contractors for input on the SDP in an email this afternoon so I'll get a chance to provide some input
