I am an ordinary citizen, not a wild-eyed radical. I spent the week-end wrapping birthday gifts for my granddaughter, fertilizing my roses, shopping at Trader Joe's, and walking in the beautiful hills that surround our town. Because of the dangers of the world we live in today, terrorists have the power to commit an act that would assure that I never again am able to do these very ordinary things. You have the power to increase the safety of the power plant to a large degree, to help assure that my neighbors and I can continue to live our ordinary lives in our ordinary town. Please assert your power!
