>>>Hello,
>>>I am at the DOE NERAC meeting in DC. Shane Johnson just finished giving >>>a >>>presentation on Nuclear Power 2010. During the question and answer >>>period >>>Nort Haberman (DOE) stated that DOE was just informed that Exelon is >>>backing out of any involvement in the Pebble Bed Modular Reactor program >>>with the South Africans. Exelon will stop most involvement by the end >>>of >>>this quarter, and all involvement by the end of their fiscal year.
>>>Someone then asked Shane what this meant to the PBMR fuel qualification >>>activity (planned for the ATR). Shane stated that the fuel >>>qualification >>>program would be terminated soon if there were no U.S. utility desiring >>>to >>>build a PBMR in the near term in the U.S.. So, Exelon's announcement >>>today >>>on the PBMR does not look good for the INEEL. This may also mean that >>>Exelon may not submit a proposal on Early Site Permitting (due today I >>>believe).
