OFFICE OF SECRETARY
RULEMAKINGS AND ADJUDICATIONS STAFF

I strongly oppose using nuclear waste in any capacity that might put it into contact with people, no matter how strenuously anyone might claim it to be harmless. The fact is these "experiments" are often not known to be harmful until many years later, and then it's too late to undo the damage. To my knowledge, we have not yet found a safe way to dispose of nuclear waste, and therefore should wait to fully deploy nuclear power until we do, however, given that nuclear power plants are operating already, at least let's not start playing fast and loose with the waste. -Ty Cumbie
