Travel from the Airport:

The preferred airport is the Baltimore-Washington International Airport (BWI). There is light rail service from the airport to downtown Baltimore (exit at the Pratt Street/Convention Center station). Riding time is approximately 25 minutes. The hotel is within walking distance. Taxi fare from the airport to the hotel should be around $20. Super Shuttle (1-800-258-3826) also services BWI. The shuttle fare from the airport to the hotel should be around $10.

From Dulles International Airport or Reagan National Airport, one can take the inter-airport bus to BWI and then proceed as noted above. Alternatives from Reagan and Dulles airports include Super Shuttle and taxi service at substantially higher cost.

Parking is available at the hotel at $12 per day.

Travel from the Marriott at Metro Center in Washington, D.C. (Nuclear Safety Research Conference)

Take the Washington Metro Red Line to Union Station. Purchase a ticket on the MARC Penn Line ($6.00) from Union Station to the BWI Station (service operates Monday through Friday only). From BWI stop take the shuttle bus (free) to the BWI Air Terminal and walk to the North End where the Light Rail stop is located. Purchase a token/pass and take the Light Rail into Baltimore and exit at the Pratt Street/Convention Center stop. The Days Inn Hotel is 1 block away (NW direction). Alternatives include taxi service at substantially higher cost.
