- 3) Letter from J. E. Pollock, I&M, to U. S. NRC Document Control Desk, "Revised Response to Request for Additional Information Regarding Relaxation Of Reactor Pressure Vessel Head Penetration Inspection Requirements in Nuclear Regulatory Commission Order," AEP:NRC:3054-08, dated June 2, 2003

A101

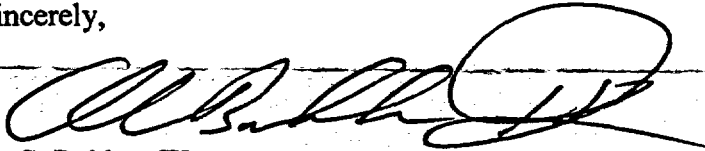

This letter withdraws a request for relaxation of reactor vessel head penetration inspection requirements for Donald C. Cook Nuclear Plant (CNP) Unit 1, and withdraws an associated commitment.

NRC Order EA-03-009 (Reference 1) established interim inspection requirements for reactor pressure vessel head penetrations at pressurized water reactors. In Reference 2, I&M requested relaxations from certain inspection requirements in that order for CNP Unit 1 and Unit 2. Reference 3 provided a revised response to an NRC request for additional information (RAI) regarding the requested relaxations. As stated in Reference 3, the information provided in the letter applied only to Unit 2. I&M committed in Reference 3 to submit the requested information for Unit 1 by separate correspondence. The committed date was that necessary to support the next Unit 1 under-head inspection required by the order.

The next Unit 1 under-head inspection required by the order is currently scheduled for Spring 2005. Examination techniques and requirements may change prior to that inspection, precluding the need for relaxation. Therefore, I&M withdraws the request for relaxation of inspection requirements for Unit 1, and the associated commitment. If a relaxation of inspection requirements is needed for Unit 1, I&M intends to request the relaxation via separate correspondence, including the necessary supporting information. This letter contains no new regulatory commitments.
