Dear Mr. Wermiel:

Enclosed are Westinghouse Electric Company LLC (Westinghouse) responses to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) Round 1 Request for Additional Information (RAI), Reference 1, regarding WCAP-16078-P & -NP, "Westinghouse BWR ECCS Evaluation Model: Supplement 3 to Code Description, Qualification and Application to SVEA-96 Optima2 Fuel." Per agreement between the NRC and Westinghouse, only the proprietary version of the responses to the RAIs is being provided at this time. In addition to written responses to the six RAIs in Reference 1, the following are provided:

1. A compact disc containing executable versions of the following codes: GOBLIN-3.12, CHACHA-3D.6, HOBIT-3.12, FRODO-3.12, AND SUPERB-1.21a. Associated user information is also provided.
2. A user manual for the GOBLIN code (Document Number 88-179, Rev. 6, "GOBLIN User Manual").

In a telephone conference between the NRC and Westinghouse on November 13, 2003, it was agreed that source codes would not be required. Consequently, only executable versions of the codes listed in Item 1 above are provided. Westinghouse believes the codes identified above will run on the NRC's computer but, if difficulties are encountered, please contact the undersigned. We will be pleased to assist in resolving any problems.

Also enclosed are:

1. One (1) copy of the Application for Withholding, AW-03-1753 with Proprietary Information Notice and Copyright Notice.
2. One (1) copy of Affidavit, AW-03-1753.

- (1) I am Manager, Business Process and Operations, in Nuclear Fuel, Westinghouse Electric Company LLC ("Westinghouse"), and I have been specifically delegated the function of reviewing the proprietary information sought to be withheld from public disclosure in connection with nuclear power plant licensing and rulemaking proceedings, and am authorized to apply for its withholding on behalf of Westinghouse.
- (2) I am making this Affidavit in conformance with the provisions of 10 CFR Section 2.790 of the Commission's regulations and in conjunction with the Westinghouse application for withholding accompanying this Affidavit.
- (3) I have personal knowledge of the criteria and procedures utilized by the Westinghouse in designating information as a trade secret, privileged or as confidential commercial or financial information.
- (4) Pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (b)(4) of Section 2.790 of the Commission's regulations, the following is furnished for consideration by the Commission in determining whether the information sought to be withheld from public disclosure should be withheld.
 - (i) The information sought to be withheld from public disclosure is owned and has been held in confidence by Westinghouse.
 - (ii) The information is of a type customarily held in confidence by Westinghouse and not customarily disclosed to the public. Westinghouse has a rational basis for determining the types of information customarily held in confidence by it and, in that connection, utilizes a system to determine when and whether to hold certain types of information in confidence. The application of that system and the substance of that system constitutes Westinghouse policy and provides the rational basis required.

Under that system, information is held in confidence if it falls in one or more of several types, the release of which might result in the loss of an existing or potential competitive advantage, as follows:

- (a) The information reveals the distinguishing aspects of a process (or component, structure, tool, method, etc.) where prevention of its use by any of Westinghouse's competitors without license from Westinghouse constitutes a competitive economic advantage over other companies.

- (b) It consists of supporting data, including test data, relative to a process (or component, structure, tool, method, etc.), the application of which data secures a competitive economic advantage, e.g., by optimization or improved marketability.
- (c) Its use by a competitor would reduce his expenditure of resources or improve his competitive position in the design, manufacture, shipment, installation, assurance of quality, or licensing a similar product.
- (d) It reveals cost or price information, production capacities, budget levels, or commercial strategies of Westinghouse, its customers or suppliers.
- (e) It reveals aspects of past, present, or future Westinghouse or customer funded development plans and programs of potential commercial value to Westinghouse.
- (f) It contains patentable ideas, for which patent protection may be desirable.

There are sound policy reasons behind the Westinghouse system which include the following:

- (a) The use of such information by Westinghouse gives Westinghouse a competitive advantage over its competitors. It is, therefore, withheld from disclosure to protect the Westinghouse competitive position.
- (b) It is information which is marketable in many ways. The extent to which such information is available to competitors diminishes the Westinghouse ability to sell products and services involving the use of the information.
- (c) Use by our competitor would put Westinghouse at a competitive disadvantage by reducing his expenditure of resources at our expense.
- (d) Each component of proprietary information pertinent to a particular competitive advantage is potentially as valuable as the total competitive advantage. If competitors acquire components of proprietary information, any one component may be the key to the entire puzzle, thereby depriving Westinghouse of a competitive advantage.

- (e) Unrestricted disclosure would jeopardize the position of prominence of Westinghouse in the world market, and thereby give a market advantage to the competition of those countries.
- (f) The Westinghouse capacity to invest corporate assets in research and development depends upon the success in obtaining and maintaining a competitive advantage.
- (iii) The information is being transmitted to the Commission in confidence and, under the provisions of 10 CFR Section 2.790, it is to be received in confidence by the Commission.
- (iv) The information sought to be protected is not available in public sources or available information has not been previously employed in the same original manner or method to the best of our knowledge and belief.
- (v) The proprietary information sought to be withheld in this submittal is:
 - (a) That which is appropriately marked in the Enclosure "Proprietary Response to NRC Request for Additional Information, WCAP-16078-P & -NP, 'Westinghouse BWR ECCS Evaluation Model: Supplement 3 to Code Description, Qualification and Application to SVEA-96 Optima2 Fuel,'" December, 2003, for submittal to the Commission, transmitted by Westinghouse letter LTR-NRC-03-74 dated December 19, 2003 and Application for Withholding Proprietary Information from Public Disclosure to the NRC Document Control Desk.
 - (b) The executable computer codes and associated information provided on the compact disc transmitted to NRC by Westinghouse letter LTR-NRC-03-74.
 - (c) The user manual for the GOBLIN computer code (Document Number RPB 88-179, Rev. 6, "GOBLIN User Manual") transmitted by Westinghouse letter LTR-NRC-03-74.

The proprietary information as submitted for use by Westinghouse is expected to be applicable in various licensee submittals in response to certain NRC requirements for justification for the application of the Westinghouse BWR ECCS evaluation model.

This information is part of that which will enable Westinghouse to:

- (a) Perform BWR loss of coolant accident analyses to ensure regulatory limits are met.
- (b) Support licensees in regulatory actions in which demonstration of compliance with ECCS acceptance criteria is required.

Further this information has substantial commercial value as follows:

- (a) Westinghouse plans to sell the use of similar information to its customers for purposes of meeting NRC requirements for licensing documentation.
- (b) Westinghouse can sell support and defense of loss of coolant accident analyses.
- (c) The information requested to be withheld reveals the distinguishing aspects of a methodology which was developed by Westinghouse.

Public disclosure of this proprietary information is likely to cause substantial harm to the competitive position of Westinghouse because it would enhance the ability of competitors to provide similar technical evaluation justifications and licensing defense services for commercial power reactors without commensurate expenses. Also, public disclosure of the information would enable others to use the information to meet NRC requirements for licensing documentation without purchasing the right to use the information.

The development of the technology described in part by the information is the result of applying the results of many years of experience in an intensive Westinghouse effort and the expenditure of a considerable sum of money.

In order for competitors of Westinghouse to duplicate this information, similar technical programs would have to be performed and a significant manpower effort, having the requisite talent and experience, would have to be expended for developing the enclosed improved core thermal performance methodology.

Further the deponent sayeth not.
