I am writing to ask you, in the name of safety for all of our people, to establish effective fire barrier systems in our nuclear plants, which are not in effect at the present time. The thermo-lag method proved to be totally ineffective, and so is the present system of manually operated switches. This is a disaster just waiting to happen!

It is time you stood up to the nuclear industry and their insatiable drive to "save money" even if it means throwing our security into the trash bin!

I demand that you direct the establishment of effective fire barrier systems in all nuclear plants. We face enough danger as it is. Thank you. Marliss Rogers
