

From: Stephen Alexander <sup>NRR</sup>
 To: Charles Hendren; Mindy Landau <sup>NRR</sup>
 Date: Mon, Sep 24, 2001 3:03 PM <sup>EDD</sup>
 Subject: Re: Web Review

Nuclear Materials section too. It affords access to the Security Fact Sheet. By the way, what about web sites of organizations like DOE, INPO, NEI, EPRI, the North American Electric Reliability Council (NAERC), and individual utilities, just to name a few? For example, NEARC used to publish information on problem areas in the grid.

>>> Mindy Landau 09/24/01 02:08PM >>>

Bruce Boger informed me you are both reviewing NRR material on the website for any information you believe could be vulnerable from a security standpoint. Thanks for your help. Barry Mendelsohn is reviewing the NMSS pages for similar information. As a reminder, this is a high priority project assigned directly by the ET at the Operations Center, therefore please complete this task as soon as possible. Please immediately forward any site addresses to me that you believe might pose some problems and I will bring them to the ET's attention.

CC: Barry Mendelsohn; Charles Hendren; Dale Thatcher; Patricia Norry; Theodore Quay

NRR release

SW 12-8

77-4