Your assistance is requested. This fall, the state of Washington, the state of Oregon, the Indian Health Service, and the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) will sponsor a panel of 10-14 experts with backgrounds in health physics, epidemiology (including occupational epidemiology) and radiation ecology to review Hanford radiological exposures, review past and current epidemiologic studies, and determine if further studies are required.

CDC will select panel members from a list of potential participants provided by each of the sponsors and the public. Our goal is a balanced panel of experts with varying work experience and perspectives. I am requesting your assistance in developing a list of potential panel members.

To recommend candidate panel members, send the persons name and a brief background description to:

Dr. John Beare, Chair
Environmental Monitoring Committee
c/o Department of Social and Health Services
Mail Stop ET-21
Olympia, WA 98504

Your recommendations must be in Dr. Beare's hands by April 17. Your assistance is appreciated.
