release

Yes, I have both NUREGs. I just completed the review for NUREG/CR-6365, it is a technical evaluation on steam generator tubing failures and its impact to plant safety. It doesn't contain any site specific information. Although the topics in this NUREG are covered PWR (US), CANDU (Canadian), and VVER (Russian), there are generic issues in common. It is o.k. for the release.

But for NUREG/CR-4840, I need some time to make judgment call for some site specific scenarios for external events. I will get back to you later today.
