i think it looks pretty good. i wonder if we should delete plant mailing addresses when putting in the public domain. (similar to what we do when we correspond with a member of the licensee staff like a plant operator and we are mailing to a home address. much of our mail goes to a licensee's corporate address, which i would still do, but when the address is part of the cc service list or direct recipient, i'm leaning to removing the address.

Based on the discussion at the ET meeting yesterday, (Regions could not be on the bridge), I have drafted some criteria for the staff to use in making decisions about releasing certain documents to the public. Please read the attached network announcement, which includes general criteria, and let me know your comments, revisions, etc., asap. We are anxious to get some guidance to the staff. Thanks.
