Dear Jim Caldwell,

I am disappointed in your decision to allow FirstEnergy to restart Davis-Besse. Nuclear power is unsafe and unsustainable. We need to look to alternative energy sources and put in place strict measures to reduce our energy consumption.

Waking up to the news that a hole had developed in one of the Davis-Besse reactors was a sure sign that the management of this plant can not and will not properly and safely manage this facility. It is time for Davis-Besse to be shutdown for good. Restarting Davis-Besse is the last thing that should happen. Let's not put corporate profit before public safety. Do not let First Energy reopen Davis-Besse.

Ellen Hawkey

FirstEnergy has proved its unreliability over and over again. Have you already forgotten the Great North American Blackout of last summer? I wouldn't trust these guys with a flashlight much less a nuclear power plant!!!

How will the NRC look if the next time there isn't a planned shutdown for maintenance that uncovers another hole or some other potentially fatal flaw? And what if--the next time--there is a serious failure, a major nuclear release, or--God forbid-- an explosion? Not only will the NRC be discredited, but many lives could be lost.

Dear Jim Caldwell,

I am disappointed in your decision to allow FirstEnergy to restart Davis-Besse. It is hard to believe that the NRC is not placing safety as the highest priority. The Davis-Besse plant has structural problems, as well as legal problems that do not bode well for the future of this plant. I hope you will rethink this decision, and decide in favor of safety instead of risking a failure that would likely be catastrophic.

Sincerely,
Olivia Zivney

Dear Jim Caldwell,

We are disappointed in your decision to allow FirstEnergy to restart Davis-Besse.

A litany of safety issues continued to plague the Davis-Besse nuclear power plant, including structural problems, a grand jury investigation and no assurance that workers at the plant felt empowered enough to raise safety concerns with FirstEnergy managers.

Despite all this, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) decided to allow FirstEnergy to restart Davis-Besse.

The NRC certainly does not serve the public interest.

Hello,

I for one am not a resident of Toledo, Cleveland, nor Detroit. I am a life long resident of [REDACTED] and I very strongly OPPOSE the restart of this plant. If they want to restart it they need to convert it to Coal or oil as they have proven quite well that they do not know how to run a nuclear plant and if we expect them to tell us the truth we are very mistaken. It took them two years to find and admit this last problem, what happens the next time.

I have lived and worked here all my life; I have even worked for the county but this restart needs to be stopped now.

Dear Mr. Caldwell,

I am a local business man, police chief, and also a candidate for sheriff in 2004 for Ottawa County, Ohio. I am a lifelong resident of the area having graduated from the Benton Carroll Salem school system. I live and work within 5 miles of the Davis-Besse Nuclear Power Station in Oak Harbor and serve on the Oak Harbor Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

Over the years after Davis-Besse came on line, and even before, this power plant has helped to fuel the economy in our local area. The operator, formerly Toledo Edison, and presently the First Energy Nuclear Operating Corporation (FENOC) has had one of the best safety records with regard to employee work related injuries in the area. They have been a good neighbor, dumping virtually millions of dollars into the local economy through their payroll, purchasing, contractors, and donations for the local good. We could not ask for a better neighbor in this area. The FENOC certainly has had it's share of problems in recent past however they have responded admirably, quickly, and completely to address the needed repairs to this facility to insure public safety and the continued local area economy. And, all that during a time when the economy itself was at it's worst state in recent years. From a law enforcement standpoint, the dollars saved over the years in communications equipment costs alone are astounding. Not to mention the other areas of support this company has provided without ever asking for anything in return.

In my personal and professional opinion, this company has worked very hard to restore the integrity of Davis-Besse back to a safe, reliable, and efficient power plant. They have addressed areas of concern with staffing to the point of nearly a complete management change. To withhold their operating status any longer would not only serve as a detriment to the company, but to the local area and economy as well. As a neighbor who lives and works within this plants shadow, I strongly urge approval of their request to bring the plant back on line. If that request is not granted, at some point this company is just not going to be able to afford the costs any more and move in another direction. If they do that, ALL will be lost for the local economy for years and years to come. That would be a catastrophe beyond imagination considering the trickle down effect it would cause.

I sincerely hope you will give the FENOC every consideration with regard to a successful restart of the Davis Besse Nuclear Power Plant.

Dear Mr. Caldwell,

I am disappointed that, despite the horrible safety hazards and negligence that have taken place, FirstEnergy has been permitted by the NRC to restart the Davis-Besse nuclear plant. This decision endangers workers, their families, and the entire community surrounding the plant. When workers are actually encouraged not to call attention to such potentially hazardous problems, there is a problem with the entire system. There is no sense of responsibility or accountability to the community. Re-opening Davis-Besse will not make people healthier or safer; in fact, I fear that only when such a disaster happens, will we learn. I only hope that new means of energy production will continue to be studied and developed so that our reliance on nuclear power can be ended.

I encourage the NRC to close these dangerous plants and protect the lives of those who have the misfortune to work around and live in areas where nuclear power dominates.

Sincerely,

Dear Jim Caldwell,

I am disappointed in your decision to allow FirstEnergy to restart Davis-Besse. I don't believe that the public has received truthful assurances regarding safety issues at this plant. I don't believe that the workers there feel that they can speak freely about their concerns to the managers who themselves have been pressured to get Davis Besse back on line.

In light of the fact that Davis Besse is the subject of a grand jury investigation and FirstEnergy has not adequately addressed the issues and problems which were the cause of history's largest blackout last summer, I cannot rest well knowing that reopening the plant for "normal" operations will possibly result in the revelation of more problems or even a catastrophic disaster from which recovery would be difficult or impossible.

Dear Jim Caldwell,

I am disappointed in your decision to allow FirstEnergy to restart Davis-Besse. What rationale could you possibly have for your action? FirstEnergy is a known polluter. It just doesn't make sense to let our air become more and more polluted. I urge that there be strong safety checks and substantial fines for infractions with FirstEnergy's Davis-Besse.

Sincerely,
Richard Boyle, RN

Dear Jim Caldwell,

I am disappointed in your decision to allow FirstEnergy to restart Davis-Besse. It is decisions like this that increase workers comp claims and lawsuits to ensue. It is time to make the hard decisions that ensure safe working environments instead of letting the rest of pickup the demand of continuously increasing insurance costs.

So how could you endanger us with a company proven to be unsafe?

Dear Jim Caldwell,

I am disappointed in your decision to allow FirstEnergy to restart Davis-Besse. This reminds me of Union Carbide's repeated sins upon society and the surrounding environment. You high brows can't seem to get it past your enormous egos(double dragon)that we are here too, not in storage boxes or time capsules for you to conveniently exploit at you will. We are real too, not reality tele(TV) real, but organically real. You and your upper crests can't seem to get into your heads that you are not gods and do not know between good and evil. There is not such thing. Those are abstract words, with no basis of comparison, but that of our own polluted minds and ill fated grooming. No one seems to know what is best for anyone, including themselves. So, all of us suffer the same sins from individual to individual, from generation to generation, and from moment to moment. The age of empire has left us, the supposed child in the crib with rattle in hand, while you high brows stand!

by and increase the chances of crib death by SIDs, in a state of social imbalance(social economic death of its social checks)(hushed babies, now don't you cry). Be a responsible parent by realizing you in your older age are still a child(Socrates pointed out that no man is wise, especially those that claim to be). A candle is lit and the light appears to display all that you have gained, but you see that there is darkness of things not yet known, so you turn on the light. Even more light is exposed to expose what was not known before, but still the darkness is there, and even more vast than before, so you open the door and go outside to be in the light of the sun. The light of wisdom is overwhelming and almost consumes you, until you see that even more darkness stands before you and all that is not known. Hopefully at that point you will see that you are only a candle flickering in the darkness of the infinite unknown.

Sincerely,
