Visiting Fellows Program

Directive 10.11

Policy

(10.11-01)

It is the policy of the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission to supplement NRC expertise in medicine, health physics, engineering, and other professional (e.g., legal) and scientific disciplines by employing, for limited periods, visiting fellows. These visiting fellows must be highly knowledgeable and skilled individuals who can contribute to the technical mission of the agency.

Objectives

(10.11-02)

- To select visiting fellows with specialized skills who are capable of contributing to and expanding the knowledge and understanding of NRC personnel in the fields of medicine, health physics, engineering, and other scientific disciplines. (021)
- To compensate for the loss of highly qualified senior and professional technical experts. (022)

Volume 10, Part 1 - Employment and Staffing
Visiting Fellows Program
Directive 10.11

---

Objectives

- To attract outside senior technical experts with advanced technical experience, combined with advanced technical degrees in health physics, engineering, and other scientific disciplines. (023)
- To bring to the Commission those individuals with the requisite knowledge and experience who may be on sabbatical or who may be interested in participating in graduate, postgraduate, or postdoctoral projects, or job-related work consistent with the needs and interests of NRC. (024)

Organizational Responsibilities and Delegations of Authority

(10.11-03)

Chairman

(031)

Determines the need for and approves the appointment and compensation of individuals selected in Commission-level offices as visiting fellows.

Inspector General (IG)

(032)

- Determines the need for and approves the appointment and compensation of individuals selected in the Office of the Inspector General (OIG) as visiting fellows. (a)
- Establishes an evaluation panel, when required. (b)

(10.11-03) (continued)

General Counsel

(033)

Advises on all prospective candidates regarding possible conflicts of interest.

Executive Director for Operations (EDO)

(034)

- Determines the need for and approves the appointment and compensation of individuals selected in EDO staff offices as visiting fellows. (a)
- Establishes an evaluation panel, when required. (b)

Deputy Executive Director for Management Services (DEDM)

(035)

- Advises the EDO and the other Deputy Executive Directors on recruitment and appointment of visiting fellows and on their assignments. (a)
- Recommends to the EDO the establishment of an evaluation panel, when or if required. (b)
- Directs program oversight and evaluation activities. (c)

Organizational Responsibilities and Delegations of Authority

(10.11-03) (continued)

Director, Office of Human Resources (HR)

(036)

- Provides advice and assistance in establishing assignments, recruiting, and appointing visiting fellows. (a)
- Determines the need for an evaluation panel and assists in its establishment. (b)
- Administers the Visiting Fellows Program, including evaluation of program activities. Establishes and utilizes a feedback system for feedback from visiting fellows and staff. (c)
- Approves any extensions, as required, up to a maximum of 4 years. (d)
- Approves the appointment and compensation of individuals selected as visiting fellows, except for Commission-level offices and the OIG. (e)

Office Directors and Regional Administrators

(037)

Define the work assignments, projects, or products of the Visiting Fellows Program.

Applicability

(10.11-04)

The policy and guidance in this directive and handbook apply to all NRC employees. The guidance in the handbook also governs programs such as the Office of Nuclear Material Safety and Safeguards Medical Visiting Fellows Program.

Handbook

(10.11-05)

Handbook 10.11 contains the criteria for determining assignments for visiting fellows and for recruiting, selecting, utilizing, and compensating visiting fellows.

Visiting Fellows Program

Visiting Fellows (A)

Purpose of This Handbook (1)

This handbook contains the procedures and criteria for determining assignments for visiting fellows and for recruiting, selecting, utilizing, and compensating visiting fellows who have special expertise in medicine, health physics, engineering, and other professional (e.g., legal) and scientific disciplines.

Purpose of the Visiting Fellows Program (2)

The purpose of the Visiting Fellows Program is to enable the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission to recruit highly qualified and experienced visiting fellows who are not currently NRC employees but who are available for a limited period. These individuals would supplement NRC expertise and would conduct research or perform job-related work consistent with the NRC's needs and interests. In addition, these individuals would provide advice and counsel on medical, health physics, engineering, professional (e.g., legal), and science issues.

Assignments and Recruitment

Procedures (B)

Assignments (1)

Assignments will be identified by office directors or regional administrators and approved by the Chairman, the Executive Director for Operations (EDO), or the Inspector General (IG), depending on which office is designated for the assignment. Approval of the assignment will constitute approval to initiate recruiting. (a)

Assignments (1) (continued)

Assignments will be determined by the professional experience of the individual invitee or applicant and the needs of NRC at that time. (b)

When the type of appointment counts toward the FTE (full-time equivalent) ceiling, funding will be absorbed within currently allocated FTEs. (c)

In addition to a specific work assignment or research project, visiting fellows also may, as appropriate—(d)

- Attend meetings of NRC advisory committees; Federal, State, and local agencies; and professional organizations and groups to participate in discussions on issues related to their areas of expertise (i)
- Participate in public meetings and seminars sponsored by NRC for exchanging information and discussing issues of mutual interest (ii)
- Participate in NRC-sponsored meetings and seminars after the end of their appointment to provide advice and counsel to NRC staff (iii)

Recruitment Procedures (2)

Candidates for the Visiting Fellows Program will be drawn from sources outside NRC. (a)

Recruitment of visiting fellows should consider, but not be limited to, the following methods—(b)

Assignments and Recruitment

Recruitment Procedures (2) (continued)

- Invitation (i)
- Newspaper and professional journal advertising (ii)
- Vacancy announcements with targeted mailings, such as to universities and professional societies (iii)
- Publication in the Federal Register (iv)

Staffing and Selection Process (C)

Selection Criteria (1)

Selection should be determined primarily on the individual's previous academic record and directly related work experience. (a)

Work must include at least 4 years of directly related work experience in medicine, health physics, engineering, law, or science, or equivalent experience in related fields. (b)

Application or Nomination Process (2)

Candidates may be nominated by professional groups or Government agencies or may nominate themselves. (a)

Nominees must provide a résumé or a Standard Form (SF) 171 or Optional Form (OF) 612 describing their educational and professional qualifications. (b)

A brief statement of the individual's professional objectives must be included with the nomination. (c)

Visiting Fellows Program
Handbook 10.11

---

Staffing and Selection Process (C) (continued)

Application or Nomination Process (2) (continued)

The Office of Human Resources (HR) will process the applications for the Visiting Fellows Program. (d)

Eligibility Requirements (3)

The candidate must satisfy applicable standards regarding NRC security, conflicts of interest, and the drug-free workplace. (a)

The Visiting Fellows Program is open to individuals who are health physicists, medical doctors, lawyers, engineers, or scientists. (b)

NRC is an equal opportunity employer, and the Visiting Fellows Program is open to all eligible candidates. (c)

Selection Process (4)

NRC professional term appointments are not subject to the NRC merit system. (a)

Individuals making selections must comply with the requirements of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, as amended. (b)

Securing the reimbursable services of an employee of another Federal or State agency for a temporary NRC assignment is an authorized activity. This temporary assignment, however, does not come under the NRC merit system. (c)

Appointments or details under the requirements of the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970 are temporary in nature and do not come under the NRC merit system. (d)

Selection Process (4) (continued)

The Office of the General Counsel shall be consulted and shall provide advice on all prospective candidates regarding conflict-of-interest issues. (e)

HR will determine whether an evaluation panel is needed and will assist in appointing panel members if a panel is deemed necessary. (f)

The duties of the evaluation panel include—(g)

- Reviewing each applicant's experience and education on the basis of information provided and identifying prospective candidates (i)
- Interviewing candidates, as deemed appropriate (ii)
- Recommending candidates to the Chairman, the EDO, or the IG, as appropriate, through any affected office director or regional administrator (iii)

The Chairman, the EDO, or the IG will review the list of nominations recommended by the evaluation panel and indicate which of the candidates have been approved. (h)

Upon approval by the Chairman, the EDO, or the IG, HR will notify the candidates and complete the administrative processing. (i)

Appointments (5)

Appointments will be made by Intergovernmental Personnel Act assignment, reimbursable detail, or professional term appointment, depending on the selectee's situation.

Utilization of the Visiting Fellow (D)

Term of Appointment (1)

The term of appointment for the visiting fellow will be up to 1 to 2 years. (a)

Appointments may be extended up to a maximum of 4 years' total service, determined by NRC's continuing need for these services. (b)

Compensation (2)

Visiting fellows will receive compensation commensurate with their experience, salary history, and the Federal pay guidelines. (a)

Pay cannot exceed the highest maximum pay rate, which is currently Executive Level IV. (b)

Visiting fellows will be reimbursed for official travel and mutually agreed upon relocation expenses. (c)

Duty Location (3)

Visiting fellows may be assigned to any office in the NRC, including the office of a Commissioner, consistent with the interests and needs of NRC and the individual's training and experience.

Travel (4)

Some travel will be associated with the visiting fellow assignments.

Performance Appraisal (5)

The performance of visiting fellows will be appraised in accordance with Management Directive 10.67, "Non-SES Performance Appraisal System."
