A couple weeks ago we uploaded VY Floor Plans, which were made in Microsoft Visio, onto the Fire Protection website. They are now available in JPG format (Acrobat Viewer) on the same website.

Some of the writing and labels did not transfer from Visio to JPG, but it appears that nothing major was altered. If the JPG drawings appear to look 'fuzzy', right click on the drawing and select "Save As". You will be able to view them clearly from your desktop (or wherever you download the file to).

Remember, you need Microsoft Visio in order to view the Visio files, but if you should have any problems with any of the drawings, please contact either me or Len Casella.
