Subject: nuclear safety

Gentlemen:

Back in the 70s, I was an intervenor in the Hope Creek construction permit hearings. Back then the rule was that if the probability of an accident was less than ten to the minus seven, then you did not have to consider the consequences of said accident. I hope you are not using such flawed logic in not up grading the nation's nuclear reactors. With resourceful terrorists, no imaginable event is beyond considering. So please, get serious now about increasing the protection of all reactors. Thank you.
