I just skimmed Ray's DRAFT and am totally impressed. WOW! What a piece of work! Very comprehensive and well written. I couldn't ask for more. I really am a little overwhelmed and don't know what more I can say, except thank you for a job WELL DONE!

Attached is a first draft of the requested paper on OpManAx Rulemaking. It may be a bit long, but it is easier to pare material down than to add, so I didn't limit myself. I applied my own format, which can be massaged to meet the meeting requirements.

 Paul/Mark:

Please share your papers with John Hannon. You will be listed as authors.

Ray:

Please prepare a two to three page paper on Manual Actions. Limit info to what is available in public domain. The paper could simply summarize the historical perspective and end with a summary of the current state (criteria published in the FRN + the fact that we are receiving comments)..It is also OK to include a paragraph summarizing the path forward.....(without going into policy questions that are being debated)
