Dear Mr. Bell:

Thank you for your participation in the New Reactors Licensing session at the recent 2005 Regulatory Information Conference. Your perspectives on the nuclear industry's preparations for potential combined license applications were a valuable contribution to the session, and were of great interest to the large audience. Your discussion of industry activities, your insights on future prospects for new reactor construction and licensing, and your straightforward answers to questions from the audience all contributed to the overall success of our session.

Sincerely,
