For the URI, associated with the acceptable manual actions, would the intent be for us to reinspect the manual actions with the revised guidance or could we close the URI in the future when the enforcement discretion is issued. I ask this because we have seen the draft manual action guidance associated with the rulemaking and it appears to be more stringent than the existing inspection guidance. I don't want to have to go back and repeat the inspection against the new albeit different criteria.

Please let me know.

This issue is more complicated than the manual actions question. The two findings are related to 9 URIs that have already been through the Phase 2 and 3 SDP processes.

For the sake of efficiency, I'd propose a phone call today to discuss getting the report concurred on by OE/EICS. How about this afternoon?

Can you and Jim set aside some time tomorrow to talk with us (me, Scott and Charles Ogle) about the subject issue. I know that you, Scott and Bob Schin spoke this afternoon, but there are lingering questions about OE's views relative to the disposition of this case. Just let us know when you guys can support a call. Thanks....
