Ron has emailed me to let me know that he cannot be here on March 29 but is trying to get one of his people that has been doing the Navy work up here. He has also suggested that he would be willing to come up at another time, probably before 3/29, to brief the team. What do you think about that scenario. I won't be available on the 20th either

I'm a little behind in acknowledging my emails...thanks for the further info...I'll be sure to share this with the team...I've tried to stress the viability of MicroSaint as a potential tool to support the rukemaking effort and will continue to do so...keep the info coming !!
