I just found out about the event this morning. While reviewing the event notification and listening to the info at the morning meeting, I do not understand the basis for the Alert declaration. The stated reason by the licensee in the EN was that there was a failure on at least one MSSV to reclose. There is no such EAL criteria in their scheme (Rev 31, 12/04). Aside from a judgement call, I find no reason for making any emergency declaration due to a secondary steam release.

I have not seen or heard of a specific EAL number ascribed to the Alert declaration. Has anyone heard of one? Thanks.
