Meraj,

attached you will find the timeline to help you with your review of our June 17th report.

A few terms and acronyms:

VE Technique- A visual exam process specified by our RCRA permit specifying process to load newly generated waste into Type A containers and certify the RCRA contents.

SPO- Site Project Office, responsible for executing the site specific TRAMPAC and certifying the waste and loading data into our waste tracking/acceptance system (WWIS). The Transportation Certification Official (TCO) works in this office.

BDR- Batch Data Reports- collections (20 drums or one days output) of characterization process data in a data report for a single process area (NDA, Radiography, visual exam,..) Batching data assists us in QA/QC activities (Validation).

Facility Level Validation- A check made by process control manager that the BDR contains the right data, it was collected under the approved controlled conditions and any Nonconformances are closed with no implications to the data.

Project Level Validation- A check made by various SPO staff that complete data has been collected, it traces to the source document, and compilations meet TRAMPAC and Waste Acceptance Criteria

call me if you have questions

Attached is a visual timeline for the subject event that you requested (I couldn't remember if it was Russ or Marc that requested it). I believe you intended to send it on to the EPA to help them better understand the event.
