Chip:

I do not envy you today - last minute preparations - enough to drive you crazy!

My final report is completed - a few important additions to the draft that I had sent to you.

The main additions are:

Wind analysis for May 2005 --- indicates the importance of discarding the "key-Hole" especially in coastal communities where winds are variable.
Appendix 3 and a couple of references in text.

Table Contents

Filtration mask - added size of particles expected.

Thanks
