<P ALIGN=LEFT><SPAN LANG="en-us">Vemon, VT&#8212;Following day-long negotiations, Entergy Nuclear Operations, Inc., which owns and operates the Vermont Yankee electrical generating station, and the negotiating committee of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 300 Unit 8 have tentatively agreed to terms for a new three-year contract. Unit 8 represents 148 of the 500 men and women who work at Vermont Yankee, </SPAN></P>

<P ALIGN=LEFT><SPAN LANG="en-us">The full union membership will vote on ratification of the proposal beginning at 4:00 this afternoon.
Results of the vote will be announced later this evening.

<P ALIGN=LEFT><SPAN LANG="en-us">The contract, if ratified, will be in effect for the next three years. The current contract will expire at midnight tonight.

<P ALIGN=LEFT><SPAN LANG="en-us">Vermont Yankee Site Vice President Jay Thayer commended both sides for reaching the tentative agreement. &#8220;Entergy appreciates the hard work and extra effort of both sides to ensure we have a contract proposal. This is what we have been striving for throughout the negotiation process. Our goal is to have a contract that is acceptable to our union workers and will allow us to go forward operating Vermont Yankee safely and efficiently for the benefit of our customers.&#8221;
