PROGRAM SCOPE

This licensee was a private practice diagnostic health care office authorized to use licensed material permitted by Sections 35.100 and 35.200. The office only provided mobile nuclear medicine services at temporary job sites. Note: the licensee did not operate a base hot lab. The licensee initiated its mobile nuclear medicine activities in January 2005 and provided nuclear cardiac imaging services to one client. The nuclear medicine studies were performed by a temporary agency technologist who performed approximately 5 diagnostic nuclear cardiology procedures daily. The licensee received unit doses from a licensed radiopharmacy. The clinic retained the services of a consulting physics group which audited the radiation safety program annually.

This inspection consisted of interviews with licensee personnel and a review of selected records. At the time of this inspection, the licensee had no prospective clients. Therefore, no temporary job site inspection was conducted at this time. The licensee anticipated that it would resume its activities in the near future, pending negotiations with a prospective client.
