Dear Mr. McCune,

I wanted to get a last minute comment in on the proposed fitness for duty rule changes. My concern is the lack of 100% employee drug and alcohol testing over at least a long term. I have gone for so many years without being tested that I lost count. I don't feel we are doing a good enough job of looking for drug and alcohol problems in the industry. When a long term employee gets caught with drugs in their system you have to ask yourself how long this may have been going on with this employee and are there others. This I feel compromises the safe operation of our plant.

Sincerely,
Daniel Hansen
