Re: In the Matter of ANDREW SIEMASZKO,
IA-05-021; ASLB No. 05-839-02-EA

Dear Administrative Judges:

We have reviewed the three affidavits of Mr. Ballantine. We find precious little in the affidavits that merits confidentiality or entitles the Staff to be presenting ex parte arguments to the Board, except the disclosure of the date on which the prosecutor may seek an indictment against one or more unnamed subject(s). Thus, there is nothing in the affidavits that changes our position.

We were disturbed, however, to note that the affidavits contain more argument than disclosure. By way of example is Mr. Ballantine's discussion of Mr. Siemaszko's assertion of Fifth Amendment privilege in the Department of Labor proceeding. We note that the Board was presented an argument in the September 8, 2005 (p. 7, ¶ 10) Affidavit that Mr. Siemaszko was likely to plead the Fifth Amendment in this case, since he had asserted such a privilege in his DOL case. This argument was not made in the Staff's companion filing, thus we could not respond to it at that time. This put Mr. Siemaszko at a disadvantage for months, on the basis of information that was not secret and had no business being presented ex parte to the Board. This is even more egregious in light of the fact that Richard Poole, of the Department of Justice, called Mr. Siemaszko's criminal counsel prior to the affidavit being filed and asked criminal counsel to stipulate that Mr. Siemaszko would assert his Fifth Amendment privilege if the NRC action went forward. Nothing about that contact between the Department of Justice and Mr. Siemaszko's criminal counsel was included in the Ballantine Affidavit or the filing by the Staff.¹

We object to any further ex parte contacts with the Board, and under the present terms of the Protective Order established by the Board, do not expect that to occur.

Thank you again for the opportunity to respond. In the spirit of the season, we wish you a happy and safe holiday.

Sincerely,

¹ It is ironic that the NRC Staff has continued to insist that Mr. Siemaszko's counsel in this proceeding not share affidavit information with Mr. Siemaszko's criminal counsel, while at the same time, NRC Staff counsel and the Department of Justice are working hand-in-glove.
