Making Spirits Bright – NMP Donates 350 Gifts!

For 10 years, Nine Mile Point employees have made the holidays brighter for children and seniors in Oswego County through the Giving Tree gift giving campaign. Each November, holiday trees begin to appear around the station. They are decorated with tags that indicate a toy or gift requested by a child or senior in Oswego County.

This year, the Oswego County Department of Social Services and St. Luke Health Services provided Nine Mile Point with a long list of gifts requested by local children and seniors, and employees again enthusiastically responded by purchasing gifts or donating money to the campaign. We purchased 197 gifts for children and 154 gifts for seniors. In all, Nine Mile Point employees donated just over 350 gifts!

“The employees and contractors did a fantastic job collecting toys and gifts for local children and seniors this year,” said Cindy DeWolf, the site’s Giving Tree campaign coordinator. “It is especially gratifying to help provide joy to those who may need some assistance during the holiday season.”

John Faye and John Battista help prepare gifts for pickup at the Unit 2 Security entrance.

It takes a lot of hands to touch the hearts of so many. Employees from across the site participated in the campaign by setting up trees, shopping, collecting money and bringing gifts.

“Karen Aluzzo-Krakovka in the Facilities department was instrumental in the success of this campaign and I would like to thank her for all her hard work,” said DeWolf. “She collected a lot of money, did a ton of shopping, and dropped off gifts that showed up after the pickup date all on her own time. We couldn’t have done it without her.”

DeWolf continued, “The organizations and people we help are very grateful for what we do. Year after year, we are one of the largest contributors in the county.”

The Importance of Procedure Compliance

Article submitted by Joe Guariglia

On several occasions Nine Mile Point has experienced events due to failure to follow our procedures. In most cases, we fail to follow procedures because we believe we know what the procedure says and, therefore, do not take the time to review and verify. I know first hand how important it is to understand the contents of procedures and, when in doubt, seek clarification.

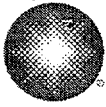

As the fire protection supervisor in 2000, I fell into the trap of not verifying site procedures. I was unclear of the requirement in the fire drill procedure and as a result mislead personnel and violated site procedure. The drill was compromised and deemed unsatisfactory due to my failure to verify the requirements in the procedure.

Needless to say, the lessons I learned were significant. The extra time it would have taken to verify the requirements in the procedure would have been far more valuable than acting on assumption. I wanted to share my experience with you to emphasize that each of us need to take the time to review, verify and follow procedures. It only takes a few minutes to verify standards and expectations and prevent events at Nine Mile Point.

NMP Employees Adopt Local Families for the Holidays

Patricia Korta, Michelle Gagnon and Sue Bertsch display a few of the items the RP department collected for a local family of nine. RP, along with other departments across the site, have been collecting toys, clothing, food and cash to assist local families this holiday season. Michelle has played a major role in the success of this collection for nearly a decade and has truly done an outstanding job this year. How does she do it? She asks over 50 employees to help and starts shopping in August!
